MICHIGAN IT LEADERS SHARE JOB SEARCH INSIGHTS WITH STUDENTS AT 2007 AITP NATIONAL COLLEGIATE CONFERENCE

MENLO PARK, CA -- Information technology executives and managers from three Detroit-area companies will be among the panelists at the keynote session of the 2007 Association of Information Technology Professionals (AITP) National Collegiate Conference, on Friday, March 30, from 8 to 9:00 a.m.

The panel, "Preparing for Today's IT Job Market," will be moderated by Katherine Spencer Lee, executive director of Robert Half Technology, a leading provider of IT professionals on a project and full-time basis, and sponsor of the event. The conference will be held from March 29-31, at the Detroit Marriott Renaissance Center.

Panelists will share hiring trends within the information technology (IT) industry and job-seeking advice with conference attendees. More than 850 of the nation's top college and university IT students are expected to attend the conference, which includes career development and resume-writing workshops, educational breakout sessions, technology-themed contests, paper presentations and student scholarship awards.

"Preparing for Today's IT Job Market" panelists:

Brent Jones, Information Security Officer; Entertainment Publications, Inc.
Jason Jones, National Business Development Manager; Microsoft, Inc.
Mark Mulawa, Director of Technical Services; PMV Technologies
Brian Stopinski, IT Help Desk Manager; Evigna

The goal of this year's conference is to help prepare college students for a successful transition into roles in the IT profession. "We read so much about the talent shortage in IT these days, making it refreshing to see groups like AITP proactively addressing the issue," said Lee, of Robert Half Technology. "Robert Half Technology is proud to be involved in this educational conference," Lee said.

Other conference highlights include:

- Teri Takai, Chief Information Officer for the State of Michigan, delivering the luncheon keynote, "Amplifying Your Future with IT," on March 30 at 12 p.m.
- The presentation of two scholarship checks for $2,500 each to AITP student members by sponsor Robert Half Technology at the conference awards banquet on March 31, from 6 to 9 p.m.
