

aitp 4th Annual National Collegiate Conference

Highlights and Winner Circle

WOW!.....could be perhaps the best one word to summarize the most successful AITP National Collegiate Conference event ever. All attendees and guests were truly impressed and dazzled by what AITP can do and is doing! The Friday keynote address by H. Ross Perot was truly outstanding with a crowd estimated at over 700 including a parade of media representatives and photographers. A full day of conference breakout sessions , the largest job fair ever and contest events kept the attendees rather busy all over the University of Texas at Arlington campus. On Saturday, Bob McDowell with Microsoft gave yet another impressive keynote address followed with another full day of breakout sessions, panel discussions, paper presentations and the job fair. A dynamic awards banquet topped off the most successful AITP National Collegiate Conference ever with 655 in attendance including all of the AITP national association officers and the AITP Region 3 officers.

Planning has already started for the 5th annual AITP National Collegiate Conference to be held in Tampa, Florida March 30 through April 1, 2000 wherein the University of Tampa is the local campus and student chapter host. Additionally, an official letter of interest and intent was provided by the DeVry Institute of Technology - Chicago to host the 2001 event.
